-The Cincinnati Commercial's cor respondent says that General Butler desired to have General Grant subpenaed as a witness before the Senate, but General Logan objected, charging that Butler's purpose was to enable the counsel for the President to tear him to pleces, as it is expressed. To prevent Butler from carrying out his design, a resolution was offered and adopted by the managers that no witness should be called until authority for the same shall first be obtained by a vote of the managers. The report of a reconcillation between Grant and Butler is entirely unfounded. -A pig in Zaneaville, Ohio, took s flying leap, the other evening, at which human gymnasts would be apt to balk. He had walked up a stair way in pur suit of provender, and, being cornered by a number of people in the house, plunged through a third-story dorme window, slipped down the sloping roof to the eaves, and them jumped or fell to the ground, some twenty-five feet. With a grunt of lively dissatisfaction at the too sudden stop in fils descent, he picked himself up and scampered off, without waiting for the applause of the a smiting conversation and laugh; and him.

Mr. Davis—Senators may laugh; and snicker, but their scoffs and gibes will not drive me from opposing this inovation. I do not care what their high position in society is, that is not the way to meet opposition to any important measure.

Both gentlemen rose in turn and were understood to make a disavowal.

Mr. Davis said he was perfectly indifferent; he had been speaking in all seriousness.

different; he had been speaking in all seriousness.

Mr. Frelinghuysen held that in these days of general newspaper reading the expression of hypothetical opinions does not militate against the impartiality of a juror. The bill was framed to correct certain injurious rulings frequently made by courts.

Mr. Bayard again opposed the bill. The bill passed—37 to S.

Mr. Sumner introduced a joint resolution proposing an amendment to the Constitution of the United States. The proposed smendment is as follows: No person elected as President or Vice-President who has once served as President shall afterwards be eligible to either office. Referred to the Judiciary Committee.

At the expiration of the morning hour the Senate proceeded to the con-sideration of private bills reported from the Committee on Claims. The consideration of unimportant bills occupied all the afternoon. At half past 3 o'clock Mr. Morgan moved an executive session. Agreed to, Soon after the Senate adjourned.

The Speaker presented a communica-tion from the Commissioner of Indian Affairs, in relation to the necessity of a speedy legislation on Indian appropria-tion, Referred to the Committee on

The Senate amendments to the naval appropriation bill, were referred to the ommittee on Appropriations.

Mr. Robinson offered the following as a privileged resolution:

peachment sgainst Andrew Johnson, passed Feb. 24, 1868, and the proceeding amendatory thereof or supplemental thereto, be and the same are hereby rescinded, and the managers be recalled. The Speaker ruled that the resolution The Speaker ruled that the resolution was not privileged, because there was a pending motion on which the previous question had been ordered on the 31st of March, as to the printing of 40,000 copies of Mr. Butler's opening address, and no business was in order, except by unanimous consent, until that was disposed of.

Fire at Sandusky. Sandusky, O., April S.—A fire broke out last evening in the small wooden building adjoining the extensive lumber yard of R. B. Hubbard & Co., on water street. There was a strong wind blowing at the time and the fire communicated to the lumber, the greater part of which was entirely consumed, with 10 or 12 dwelling houses and barns adjoining it. The principal losers are R. B. Hubbard & Co., $50,000 on lumber; nearly covered by insuon lumber; nearly covered by insurance. The loss of various parties on property and furniture will reach $15,000—small insurance. The total will not fall short of $75,000.

empt the property used for school purposes in the District of Columbia, from taxation.

Mr. Howard called up the bill requiring reports of railroad companies to be filed in the office of the Secretary of the Interior instead of Secretary of the Interior instead of Secretary of the Interior instead of Secretary of the Treasury.

Mr. Trumbull called up the bill in regard to the qualification of jurors. It provides that an expression of opinion founded on public rumor or statements of public journals, shall not disqualify a juror otherwise competent, and who shall take oath he can give verdict according to the evidence.

Mr. Johnson supposed the law already allows a Court, in its discretion, to accept such jurors.

Mr. Trumbull replied, such was the practice in many States, but the bill proposed to make the practice uniform.

Mr. Bayard thought this was a dangerous provision, a man could not be otherwise than partial after once forming and expressing his opinion.

Mr. Davis was not sure the measure was not an inovation on the sacred right of an important trial by jurors and concurred in the opinion of the last speaker, and he would sconer yield the whole Government than this inestimable right.

During Mr. Davis' remarks, Messrs.

Mr. McKenzie followed in a very eloquent address, in which he paid a high tribute to the deceased. Hon. Mr. Cartier also paid a hearty and eloquent tribute to the deceased statesman. A number of other members addressed the house in the same strain. An adjournment then took place at four o'clock until Thursday. The galleries were densely thronged, and members and spectators alike were frequently affected to tears.

Parliament, it is believed, will pass resolutions to-morrow denouncing the murderer or murderers, and proffering sympathy to the bereaved widow. All day long the Parliament House has been througed with people, eager to get information in regard to the crime.

To-day, noon, Messrs. Galt, Speaker Cockburn, Hon. Mr. Drone, and other members of the Government, colloague's of the deceased, paid a visit to the bereaved widow, who is almost insane with grief, and 'sought to console her in her terrible affliction.

The different volunteer corps met tonight, and great excitement prevailed, as it is feared by some that another Fenian raid was about to commence.

On Saturday evening Mr. McGee was present at the dinner given by Mr. Cockburn, the Speaker of Parliament, and it was noticed that he was somewhat gloomy and reserved; and his usual flow of liveliness and gayety lacking, as if he had a sad premonition of the terrible fate about to befall him.

The murder has created an intense feeling against Fenianism, although it is not known whether he was assassinated by Irishmen or not

At a meeting of the St. George's Society to-night great excitement was manifested by the members, and it was resolved to attend the funeral of Mr. McGee, which promises to be a most imposing demonstration. The Secretary of the Interior sent to the House to-day a communication from the Commissioner of Indian Affairs, who says: "Referring to the office reports of the 20th and 21st of February last, in which reference was made to the necessity of certain appropriations being made at an early day in order that the faith of the Government and promises of the Indian Peace Commissioners may be kept good, I desire to say it is evident to my mind that unless immediate action is had by Congress upon the estimates referred to in said report, and the necessary funds appropriated to enable the Department to carry out and fulfill the promises made with certain tribes, we shall have trouble with them. I am led to believe this from various rumors that have reached this office of the feelings and intentions of certain bands and stribes on the strip of the feelings and intentions of certain the feelings and intentions of certain bands and tribes on the plains. If we expect to keep the Indians friendly to the Government, and at peace with it, we must fulfill our promises; t, we must fulfill our promises therwise, we can but expect, as would otherwise, we can out expect, as would be the case were we dealing with white men and christians, a removal of the troubles of last summer, besides if our agreements are not faithfully carried out, the Indians will lose all confilence in the Government; they will be-leve nothing told them by its officers. and an almost endless war will be the result, which will cost millions of dollars to suppress, and to avoid which thousands are only asked. This question has become of so grave importance that I deem it my duty to again invite your attention to it. If we are to have an Indian war this summer, I do not wish the country to think it was caused or brought about by the management of the affairs of this office, and after the urgent requests that has been made for funds, and statement is that have been made in regard to matters, this bureau certainly cannot be held responsible for any acts of hostility; or depredations that may be committed by the Indians. eault, which will cost millions of dol

DRY GOODS.

The weather is now clear and dry, but the market, notwithstanding, is not very active, as the advance in printed calicoes has a tendency to prestrict sales of Sprague's prints; Ice for Fancies; 15½e for prints and purples; 16c for shirtings. Pacific Mills prints have also risen to 15c as well as Dunnel's. Amoskeag commands 14a14½c latter rate for chintz styles; Lowell, 12½; Arnolds, 12; Wamsutta, 10½. Heavy brown sheetings, best makes, steady and in request at 18½a19c, while heavy brown drills move slow at 17c. All other class of goods without important change, and the general tone of the market is strong, if not bouyant; but buyers are reluctant to pay the enhanced prices demanded for cotton fabrics, and only purchase as yet in moderate quantities to meet most urgent necessities.
